

Desert Vistas

PATRICIA MOONEY, ASID

Patricia Mooney's challenge with the design of her Santa Fe-style custom home was to use every space for her family's needs. She created an environment where entertainment is key and comfort is a priority without sacrificing style.

The home site encompasses more than three acres with breathtaking views of the Santa Catalina Mountains. As a result, creating outdoor living areas was crucial.

The backyard plan included a pool, spa, outdoor shower and several patio areas. Bocce ball and horseshoe courts, a desert tortoise enclosure, and a viewing deck at the top of an exterior spiral staircase also were part of the design.

Inside, a high-ceilinged, open flowing floor plan includes a Great Room off the foyer, formal dining room, family room adjacent to the gourmet kitchen and four bedrooms. ▶
